Warden was the one who

. specifically mentioned that it would be appropriate . to have s~omething to commemorate the Grenadians or I think he made reference to the Grenadians who d1ed.

to pay attention to that.

Bishop Goodridge: This is a contradiction becaise all this is' happening within a country n?t America It's happening in a country which does not commemorate 1ts own dead. To me that s a major contradiction.

I do indeed feel frustrated. NARA is a repository of the original Grenadian documents which have been filmed on microfiche. The microfiche are available to the public in the College Park facility. Here is a situation where your WEBSITE states the original Grenadian documents have been returned to Grenada. The archivist Grenada Public Library Librarian Deon David (the Sheila Buckmire Memorial Library in St George's) said she knew nothing about the return of the original documents when I visited there July/August 2000.

Also too, is the suggestion of paying homage and proper tribute to those who suffered throughout the period under review. Many think that institutions and places should be named in both Bishop and Gairy's memory. One such suggestion is that the Point Saline's International Airport be renamed "Maurice Bishop International Airport." Furthermore, there is also a request for a week of awareness as well as a war museum or memorial built in commemoration. This museum it is suggested, should be built in pearls, St. Andrew. But more than the museum, is the belief that reconciliation cannot be achieved without proper recovery and burial of the bodies or at least of the remains of those who perished.

Commissioners. Commissioners: Good moJ1!ing.

Caller #3: Would the Commjssion consider or recommend in view of the fact that the bodies of the people who qied on October I 9th on Fort Rupert, Fort George were never identified or fo~d, would you recommend ~t some sort of monument be erected, giving the names, just stating the nanJes who h~lped Witho~ status. or reg~d, Grenadians there are, all how many of ~em whatever number IS finally decided, give theu- names and have it as a prmminent place m the St. George's Cemetery where ~ose :Vho wish to consider them as heroes may go on whatever day they may want to worship theu- heroes and those who consider them as villains regard them as villains because there are two sides and there would always be two sides it seems and ~t js for the people who died at Fort Rupert so we may lay that to rest We can ha_ve a Christian ceremony ~d that sort of thing to when you are establishing or unveiling this monument. The other Side of the coin is that misguided as though they may well have be_en, some ~umber unknown of young Grenadian men pitted their strength against the mi~ty Amen can ~orces, the most powerful nation in t!Je world. They went out there to fight agamst them. I thmk they deserve to be honoured for their bravery at least and there should be ~orne mom~ent some~here whe? an~ if we can discover their nanies, listing their names or ~f they don t ~ow the!~ names, JU~t m the memory of the brave Grenadians who pitted their strength agamst t!Je Ifllghty Amenca. Would the Commissioners think of recommending something like this?
